Transition Assessment in the FIE
Gail Cheramie's Input

FIE/IEE: Ensure that Transition Assessment results are included in the FIE and IEE for all secondary students served by Special Education. It is a legally required assessment and intended to drive the secondary programming and services, so why wouldn't you include it?

According to Dr. Gail Cheramie, Ph.D.,Director of Psychological Services Department at the University of Houston-Clear Lake (now retired) and a statewide expert training districts, education service centers and education law firms, Transition Assessment should be in the FIE/IEE. Dr. Cheramie stated that the Transition Services information should be placed at the end of the evaluation report in a separate section. A transition subsection can be created in any section of the FIE depending on the software program being used, but it is best to put it at the end since it is based on a synthesis of all evaluation data."
