

Interdisciplinary Approaches to Teaching the Civil Rights Movements

Region One Education Service Center • Edinburg

February 7, 2023

This workshop for social studies and English language arts teachers will expand participants' understanding of the history of the African American and Latinx Civil Rights Movements and their representation in literature, music, and visual cultures/film. The workshops will feature close interaction with scholars, the examination of primary sources and texts, and the development of effective pedagogical strategies and engaging assignments and activities. Teachers will receive books and other instructional materials, as well as CPE credit.

Humanities Texas will reimburse schools up to $200 for a substitute for any teacher who attends. Travel reimbursement of approved costs up to $300 is also available.

To apply for this program, please complete the online application on the Humanities Texas website. Applying to an in-person program does not guarantee your participation. Humanities Texas will contact you by email to let you know if you have been accepted to the program or placed on a waiting list.

Priority consideration will be given to early-career teachers in low-performing schools and districts.

www.humanitiestexas.org
institutes@humanitiestexas.org

After you apply with Humanities Texas, please make sure to register with Region One on their professional development website.

Contact: Jose Julian Saenz
jsaenz@esc1.net 956-984-6172
Dalia Gracia
dgracia@esc1.net 956-984-6242

