About the ELAR TEKS

The following pages contain the vertical-alignment version of the 2008 revised English Language Arts and Reading Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (ELAR TEKS).

This document contains the same information as the rule text, which is available on the Texas Education Agency Web site; however, it has been reformatted to display, at a glance, the corresponding student expectations for each grade level.

The ELAR TEKS vertical alignment for K–English IV consists of the following sections:

- Introduction
- Reading Strand
- Comprehension skills found in Figure 19 *
- Writing Strand
- Oral and Written Conventions Strand
- Research Strand
- Listening and speaking Strand

*Note: For ease of use, the comprehension skills found in Figure 19 have been included between the Reading and Writing strands to help teachers integrate the reading and writing student expectations when planning instruction.

Introduction Section

The first part of the Introduction of the ELAR TEKS contains important information about the cumulative nature of the standards. The language of the Introduction is almost identical across all grade levels. The differences have been provided as footnotes at the bottom of the document.

The next part of the Introduction contains specific information to guide the instruction of English language learners (ELLs) in their acquisition of reading skills, their vocabulary development, and the improvement of their English-language proficiency.

The last parts contain additional information about requirements for the state of Texas.

Strands of the TEKS

The ELAR TEKS are divided into five strands: Reading, Writing, Oral and Written Conventions, Research, and Listening and Speaking. Within each of these strands are components that define the type of text students will use or the type of writing students will engage in. There are subsections within some of the components.

For each strand, the vertical alignment contains a guide that summarizes the structure and applicable grade levels for each knowledge and skill statement.

The first column of this guide contains the tagline (i.e., strand/component/subsection) and applicable grade levels. The highlighted grade levels indicate the grades in which this component or subsection is addressed.

The second column lists the knowledge and skills statement for each component or subsection. These knowledge and skills statements are often exactly the same across grade levels K–12. Sometimes a knowledge and skills statement applies only to a specific range of grade levels.

The third column lists examples from the Texas College and Career Readiness Standards (CCRS) that closely align with the ELAR TEKS. The CCRS in this column are not intended to be a comprehensive list of all correspondences with the ELAR TEKS. You are encouraged to explore the CCRS yourself to discover additional correspondences with the ELAR TEKS.

In the pages following the guide for each strand are the student expectations for each knowledge and skills statement. These are the measurable expectations that teachers will use when planning instruction.

Comprehension Skills Found in Figure 19

There are three Figure 19 charts for English: one covers grades K–5, the second covers grades 6–8, and the third covers English I–IV.

All versions of Figure 19 share the same knowledge and skills statement: "Students use a flexible range of metacognitive reading skills in both assigned and independent reading to understand an author's message. Students will continue to apply earlier standards with greater depth in increasingly more complex texts as they become self-directed, critical readers."

Although Figure 19 appears as a separate document on the TEA Web site, it is part of the TEKS for language arts and reading. These comprehension skills are critical to model and teach so that our students will become successful readers.

For ease of use, the comprehension skills found in Figure 19 have been included in this document between the Reading and Writing strands to help teachers integrate the reading and writing student expectations when planning instruction.

Introduction

ELAR Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills

The ELAR TEKS Introduction is identically worded across grade levels with a few exceptions. These exceptions are marked with numbered footnotes in the text on the next pages. We use the first-grade Introduction as the basis for our example.

- (a) Introduction.
 - (1) The English Language Arts and Reading Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) are organized into the following strands: Reading, where students read and understand a wide variety of literary and informational texts; Writing, where students compose a variety of written texts with a clear controlling idea, coherent organization, and sufficient detail; Research, where students are expected to know how to locate a range of relevant sources and evaluate, synthesize, and present ideas and information; Listening and Speaking, where students listen and respond to the ideas of others while contributing their own ideas in conversations and in groups; and Oral and Written Conventions, where students learn how to use the oral and written conventions of the English language in speaking and writing. The Reading strand is structured to reflect the major topic areas of the National Reading Panel Report.⁹ In first grade,¹⁰ students will engage in activities that build on their prior knowledge and skills in order to strengthen their reading, writing, and oral language skills. Students should write and read (or be read to) on a daily basis.¹¹

7 The statute number differs by grade level:

11 For kindergarten, this section reads: "...students engage in activities that build on their natural curiosity and prior knowledge to develop their reading, writing, and oral language skills."

For grades 3–English IV, this section reads: "...students will engage in activities that build on their prior knowledge and skills in order to strengthen their reading, writing, and oral language skills. Students should read and write on a daily basis."

⁹ This sentence is for grades K-2 only. For grades 3–English IV, this sentence reads: "The standards are cumulative--students will continue to address earlier standards as needed while they attend to standards for their grade."

¹⁰ Substitute the appropriate grade level.

(2) For students whose first language is not English, the students' native language serves as a foundation for English language acquisition.

- (A) English language learners (ELLs) are acquiring English, learning content in English, and learning to read simultaneously. For this reason, it is imperative that reading instruction should be comprehensive and that students receive instruction in phonemic awareness, phonics, decoding, and word attack skills while simultaneously being taught academic vocabulary and comprehension skills and strategies. Reading instruction that enhances ELL's ability to decode unfamiliar words and to make sense of those words in context will expedite their ability to make sense of what they read and learn from reading. Additionally, developing fluency, spelling, and grammatical conventions of academic language must be done in meaningful contexts and not in isolation.
- (B) For ELLs, comprehension of texts requires additional scaffolds to support comprehensible input. ELL students should use the knowledge of their first language (e.g., cognates) to further vocabulary development. Vocabulary needs to be taught in the context of connected discourse so that language is meaningful. ELLs must learn how rhetorical devices in English differ from those in their native language. At the same time English learners are learning in English, the focus is on academic English, concepts, and the language structures specific to the content.
- (C) During initial stages of English development, ELLs are expected to meet standards in a second language that many monolingual English speakers find difficult to meet in their native language. However, English language learners' abilities to meet these standards will be influenced by their proficiency in English. While English language learners can analyze, synthesize, and evaluate, their level of English proficiency may impede their ability to demonstrate this knowledge during the initial stages of English language acquisition. It is also critical to understand that ELLs with no previous or with interrupted schooling will require explicit and strategic support as they acquire English and learn to learn in English simultaneously.
- (3) To meet Public Education Goal 1 of the Texas Education Code, §4.002, which states, "The students in the public education system will demonstrate exemplary performance in the reading and writing of the English language," students will accomplish the essential knowledge, skills, and student expectations at Grade 1¹² as described in subsection (b) of this section.
- (4) To meet Texas Education Code, §28.002(h), which states, "... each school district shall foster the continuation of the tradition of teaching United States and Texas history and the free enterprise system in regular subject matter and in reading courses and in the adoption of textbooks," students will be provided oral and written narratives as well as other informational texts that can help them to become thoughtful, active citizens who appreciate the basic democratic values of our state and nation.

¹² Substitute the appropriate grade level.

ELAR TEKS Vertical Alignment

Grades K–English IV

The English Language Arts and Reading (ELAR) Vertical Alignment Chart is a tool that allows the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) to be viewed across multiple grade levels. The TEKS for kindergarten are listed here in the same order as they are presented in the ELAR TEKS document. After kindergarten, the ELAR TEKS are listed to correlate with previous grade levels. Consequently, in viewing columns for grades 1–English IV, you may see various letters [(A), (B), (i), (ii), etc.] that are not in order preceding the student expectation.

ELAR TEKS Vertical Alignment

Grades K–English IV

The English Language Arts and Reading (ELAR) Vertical Alignment Chart is a tool that allows the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) to be viewed across multiple grade levels. The TEKS for kindergarten are listed here in the same order as they are presented in the ELAR TEKS document. After kindergarten, the ELAR TEKS are listed to correlate with previous grade levels. Consequently, in viewing columns for grades 1–English IV, you may see various letters [(A), (B), (i), (ii), etc.] that are not in order preceding the student expectation.

WRITING

Students compose a variety of written texts with a clear controlling idea, coherent organization, and sufficient detail.

ELAR TEKS Vertical Alignment

Grades K–English IV

The English Language Arts and Reading (ELAR) Vertical Alignment Chart is a tool that allows the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) to be viewed across multiple grade levels. The TEKS for kindergarten are listed here in the same order as they are presented in the ELAR TEKS document. After kindergarten, the ELAR TEKS are listed to correlate with previous grade levels. Consequently, in viewing columns for grades 1–English IV, you may see various letters [(A), (B), (i), (ii), etc.] that are not in order preceding the student expectation.

ORAL AND WRITTEN CONVENTIONS

Students learn how to use the oral and written conventions of the English language in speaking and writing.
