Kindergarten English Language Arts and Reading

TITLE : Unit 02: Reading with Purpose

SUGGESTED DURATION : 20 days

UNIT OVERVIEW

This unit bundles student expectations that address purposes for reading, writing, speaking, and listening. Students examine a variety of literature representing various genres with multiple themes and topics. Patterns in phonological awareness, phonics, conventions and print awareness continue to be introduced and practiced in order to reinforce literacy learning and comprehension during independent and shared reading. Students begin to see the connection between listening, speaking, reading, and writing in order to establish effective communication of a variety of ideas based on relevance, enjoyment, involvement, and information.

In Unit 01, students recognized that spoken words could be written and that sentences are comprised of words. They began to recognize letters as upper and lower case and identified the common sounds that each letter represents. Connections between language sounds such as rhyming and non-rhyming words were identified. Students listened to stories read aloud and asked and responded to questions. They communicated using oral and written language by engaging in conversations and learned to take turns by speaking one at a time. During this unit, students continue to explore phonological awareness, phonics, and print awareness for the purpose of understanding the basic components of reading and writing. Students examine letter/sound associations, understand that reading moves from left to right and top to bottom, and begin to decode VC and CVC words. Students will begin to explore and discuss different purposes for reading and listening to texts and media including to entertain and to learn or gain information. As students explore the different purposes of texts, they are introduced to big ideas and recurring phrases in fairy tales, lullabies, and folktales and begin to identify topics in informational texts. Students use strategies and processes to support comprehension of text read aloud and communicate comprehension by retelling, or acting out main events. Students compose stories using the writing process and written and oral conventions to dictate or write sentences in chronological order. They become more proficient in writing their name and upper and lower case letters of the alphabet. In Unit 03, students use their understanding of the connections between the components to establish a continuum and fluid motion in reading and comprehension while investigating literary works.

	supporting ideas and details in text and graphic sources, summarizing text, and distinguishing main ideas from details commensurate with content area needs
ELPS.c.4J	demonstrate English comprehension and expand reading skills by employing inferential skills such as predicting, making connections between ideas, drawing inferences and conclusions from text and graphic sources, and finding supporting text evidence commensurate with content area needs
ELPS.c.4K	demonstrate English comprehension and expand reading skills by employing analytical skills such as evaluating written information and performing critical analyses commensurate with content area and grade-level needs.
ELPS.c.5	The ELL writes in a variety of forms with increasing accuracy to effectively address a specific purpose and audience in all content areas. ELLs may be at the beginning, intermediate, advanced, or advanced high stage of English language acquisition in writing. In order for the ELL to meet grade-level learning expectations across foundation and enrichment curriculum, all instruction delivered in English must be linguistically accommodated (communicated, sequenced, and scaffolded) commensurate with the student's level of English language proficiency. For Kindergarten and Grade 1, certain of these student expectations do not apply until the student has reached the stage of generating original written text using a standard writing system. The student is expected to:
ELPS.c.5A	learn relationships between sounds and letters of the English language to represent sounds when writing in English
ELPS.c.5B	write using newly acquired basic vocabulary and content-based grade-level vocabulary
ELPS.c.5C	spell familiar English words with increasing accuracy, and employ English spelling patterns and rules with increasing accuracy as more English is acquired
ELPS.c.5D	edit writing for standard grammar and usage, including subject-verb agreement, pronoun agreement, and appropriate verb tenses commensurate with grade-level expectations as more English is acquired
ELPS.c.5E	employ increasingly complex grammatical structures in content area writing commensurate with grade-level expectations, such as:
ELPS.c.5F	write using a variety of grade-appropriate sentence lengths, patterns, and connecting words to combine phrases, clauses, and sentences in increasingly accurate ways as more English is acquired
ELPS.c.5G	narrate, describe, and explain with increasing specificity and detail to fulfill content area writing needs as more English is acquired.
